"It looks that way," replied Glavis, with a laugh, in which his counsel and several members of the committee joined. In one of these letters to Mr. Ballinger Mr. Moore said that Glavis' desire have the Cunningham entries cancelled was actuated by a determination to get whom he had quarreled.

Mr. Brandeis, counsel for Glavis, called for the original copies of all correspondence between Ballinger and Moore, and they will be ordered by the committee.

Glavis told of the circumstances in connection with his appeal to Gifford Pin chot to help him hold up the hearings in the Cunningham cases until he had collected all of his evidence. He said he asked Pinchot to have the Forest Service interfere because he knew such action would hold up the hearings long enough to let him complete his work.

Pinchot Said "See Taft." "Was your object to bring about the removal of Secretary Ballinger and Commissioner Dennett?" asked Mr. Vertrees,
